

THE COLLINS HOUSE

The Collins House is a 3-bedroom home that provides a safe and comfortable living environment for VNA hospice patients in a home-like setting. The house is staffed 24/7, along with the VNA Hospice Interdisciplinary Team providing individualized care for each resident. At our home, we welcome friends and family to visit their loved one.

QUALITY OF CARE

Manager Kim Slater Heil RN/BSN states, "With so much uncertainty in our world today, there is one thing that is steadfast and unchanging: our commitment to providing the highest quality of care to our hospice patients."

FUNDING

Sole funding for this facility is provided by the Venango VNA Foundation, which receives contributions from the community to support our mission.

The Venango VNA Foundation is a private, nonprofit, community-based corporation.

Planning for the future...and making a difference now!

"Our hospice mission is to prevent and relieve suffering for persons at the end of life so they may live as fully and comfortably as possible and to offer continued support to the bereaved."

A HOME FOR HOSPICE CARE

The Collins House is named after John Collins, Jr. and his wife, Betsy, who left a charitable remainder unitrust and the Collins' personal estate to the VNA upon their deaths. Collins' only stipulation was that the funds be used to cover indigent care in Venango County.

We are proud to honor Mr. Collins' wishes and in doing so, named the hospice house in memory of the Collins family.

Hospice Philosophy: The hospice program is not about dying; it is a system of specialized care that provides support and assistance for the most difficult of journeys, facing one's own death. The goals include improving quality of life and maintaining the dignity of the individual.
